

Society Chat OF THE Week

MILITARY BALL IS BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Ball An Event of Summer Season—Music By Fifth Cavalry Band Adds Zest to Dancing—Elite of City Out In Force.

UNQUESTIONABLY without a parallel in the social annals of Honolulu was the military ball given by the officers and ladies of Fort Ruger, Thursday evening. The memory of this affair will not only linger indefinitely in the minds of those present on account of the brilliancy of the function, for the uniqueness of the setting made a vivid impression on the guests—for the exterior of the club house situated near the sea, was made to resemble a scene in Venice. The club house is built over a lagoon each side of the fence was hung with electric lights, shaded by Venetian lanterns—the long narrow Hawaiian pleasure boats, resemble some what at night, the gondolas of Venice, as myriads of these crafts lighted by Venetian lanterns piled up and down the lagoon, with the whole scene softly flooded by a luminous moon, the representation was perfect of a Venetian picture. The inside of the ball room was characteristic of the tropics—ordinarily the sides of this room are not enclosed, but on Thursday evening the coconut palm was artistically introduced to form an enclosure, intermingled with tapestries and Italian hangings. On the west side was built a long and wide gallery that was used as a promenade. This latter place was fitted with Turkish and Persian hangings and rugs. Comfortable divans and easy chairs were placed, so that those who did not care to indulge in the terpsichorean art, could watch the graceful dancers—or the placing of the palms were so cleverly arranged that one could take up a position and view the distinguished company—the women in their exquisite gowns and the officers in their glittering uniforms, with touches of gold braid and gold buttons and the civilians in immaculate evening attire; as they moved with measured steps, to the musical accompaniment of the Fifth Cavalry Band. It was indeed a spectacle that any one would derive enjoyment from watching. At one end of the promenade a delicious punch was served by a corps of Orientals. A patriotic touch was given to the decorations, by means of large silken American flags, for "Old Glory" is never forgotten by the American who has chosen to follow the flag. The dressing rooms and the canopy from under which the supper was served, were dressed in flags. Shortly after nine o'clock the guests began to arrive and were received at the entrance with a hospitable greeting by Major Edward J. Timberlake, commandant of Fort Ruger. After leaving the dressing rooms one joined the long receiving line and waited their opportunity to pay their respects to the receiving party, who stood in the southeast corner of the room, midst a bowser of tropical palms, Khilim hangings and Tekke, Saraband, Bergamo and Soumak rugs made an exquisite back ground for the seven handsome women. Mrs. Montgomery Macomb assisted the women of Fort Ruger in receiving their numerous guests. Mrs. Macomb looked regal in white satin, embroidered in silver and crystal beads. The General's wife has won the Honolulu folk by her graciousness and affability of manner—although she has been in the islands but a few months, she is universally admired by all who have met her. Mrs. Edward J. Timberlake is another universal social favorite; on Thursday evening she was radiantly beautiful in a blue meteor satin with silver trimmings. Her blonde type of beauty was set off to perfection in this handsome creation. Long stemmed Easter lilies were carried. Only a tall graceful woman and one possessed of perfect poise could carry such a large bouquet and obtain the result of added beauty to the toilette. Mrs. Harry Wilbur was clad in an exquisite creation of white chiffon over white satin with an inset band of embroidery of seed pearls. This costume was one of the most admired and most striking. Mrs. Johnson was handsome in white lace over satin, with crystal trimmings; Mrs. Clark wore a gown of blue satin with an overdress of chiffon, embroidered in shades of pink with a touch of blue, resulting in a Frenchy effect; Mrs. Williams was a picture of loveliness in white satin, embroidered in a Grecian design of gold; violets were worn in the corsage and gold bands were artistically arranged in her blonde coiffure. Last but not least in the receiving line was Mrs. Turner. Her flower like beauty was accentuated by her costume of white chiffon over white satin, with bands of silver. Near the receiving party was a large Venetian tray, filled with dance programs, ornamented with conventional designs in the artillery red with red pencils attached by a cord in the same shade.

Among the handsome costumes observed was that of Miss Edith Cowles, daughter of Admiral Cowles, the costume of white chiffon over white satin in was the admiration of many, the former fabric was embellished with a border of cerise, touches of the same color was noticed in the bodice combined with lace; Mrs. George Sherman wore an exquisite gown of white peau de crepe heavily embroidered with Wisteria blossoms, handsome diamonds were worn; Mrs. James Hough of Stockton, California looked very handsome in black satin, with garnitures of jet; Mrs. James Wilder was clad in a French gown of white lace, with touches of black and a suspicion of green, a long chain of pearls was worn, all of Mrs. James Wilder's gowns are chic and becoming, the one worn Thursday evening was particularly so. Mrs. Burnham of Fort Shafter looked handsome in black; Mrs. Eric Knudsen of Kauai was superbly clad in cerise satin, veiled with chiffon of the same color, the French overdress was bordered with gold fringe, a bandeau of cerise was worn in her hair. Few women could stand the simplicity of the costume and the trying color, but Mrs. Knudsen was a beautiful picture; Mrs. Walter Cowles wore a chic costume of black satin, with ornaments of jet; Miss Helen Hough of Stockton, California, was clad in a pretty gown of white chiffon, with broad white satin stripes; Mrs. Bruce Cartwright, Jr., looked stunning in white brocade satin, with an overdress of plain white satin, bordered with silver. Her coiffure was beautifully arranged with a band of silver, with a tassel composed of silver and jewels. One of the most beautiful women there was Mrs. Clifton Carter, wife of Captain Carter. Her gown was of corn colored silk muller over satin with lace garnitures; Mrs. John Stone of Fort Shafter was handsome in a black lace Paris gown, and diamonds. Long hanging earrings, set with these precious stones were worn. Miss Marion Scott looked well in black lace over satin; Mrs. Putnam of Fort De Russy was very pretty in pale blue embroidered silk crepe with a bandeau of the same shade in her hair; Miss Katherine Stephens was one of the belles of the ball, her costume of white satin, with an overdress of blue, embellished with pink roses was much admired; Mrs. Gardner Wilder was clad in a smart frock of black lace, with a turban of cloth of gold; Miss Helen North was beautiful in pale blue satin, embroidered in pink and lavender, the flowers being outlined with threads of gold; Mrs. Frank B. Edwards of the army looked pretty in a sea-foam green over satin; Mrs. Smith of Fort Shafter wore apricot satin; Mrs. Benjamin L. Marx wore a priceless gown of white satin, embroidered in pearls with Venetian point lace; Mrs. Neville looked regal in an all black costume of satin; Mrs. Joseph Shedy wore an exquisite toilette of blue satin, heavily embroidered. Mrs. Pratt looked particularly pretty in pink satin with lace; Mrs. Joseph Gilman was queenly in black satin and lace; Mrs. Pardee of Fort Shafter wore a handsome white satin, with a corsage of pansies; Mrs. Clarence Short wore an exquisite gown of white satin with an overdress of opalescent sequins, the gown was stunning and very becoming; Mrs. Newcomb's statuesque beauty was even more pronounced in a black brocade satin with an overdress of black net embroidered in gold, with gold fringe. The jewels worn were heirloom, consisting of earrings and a large brooch, Spanish in design, set with pearls, turquoise and rubies. The jeweled bandeau of pearls and brilliants was very handsome; Miss Agnes Walker was one of the most stunning women there, in a severely plain but elegant black satin with a suspicion of French green on the corsage. A bandeau of green with a fringed jet tassel, was chic; Mrs. Campbell wife of Major Campbell, was beautiful in satin, with an overdress of handsome lace; Mrs. Walter Frear's costume was beautiful of white satin, embroidered in silver; Mrs. Wood, wife of Dr. Wood wore a beautiful black gown; Miss Annie Tucker was considered one of the prettiest girls there in her embroidered pink chiffon gown, over satin; Miss Burnham wore a New York creation of white satin with pearl trimmings; Mrs. L. Tenney Peck was stunning in a hand-painted chiffon, ornamented with pink roses; Miss Louise Girard was clad in lavender and ecrú lace; Mrs. Selden Kingsbury's pink crepe de chine, exquisitely embroidered was much admired. Many handsome costumes were worn. In fact every one seemed to be at their best and entered into the zest of the affair. At eleven o'clock a delicious buffet supper was served, after refreshments the dancing was resumed and continued until a late hour. Following is a list of the invited guests:

MISS YSABEL COOPER
Whose Engagement to Lieut. James Pine is Announced.

Governor and Mrs. Frear, General and Mrs. Macomb, Major and Mrs. Campbell, Captain and Mrs. Carter, Lieut. Andrews, Admiral and Mrs. Cowles, Miss Cowles, Lieut. Sahn, U. S. N., Capt. Falls, Capt. and Mrs. Edwards, Major and Mrs. Davis, Major and Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Baldwin, Miss Kennedy, Major and Mrs. De Witt, Captain and Mrs. Culler, Lieut. and Mrs. Smith, Lieut. and Mrs. Demmer, Miss Browning, Lieut. and Mrs. Johnstone, Lieut. and Mrs. Tuttle, Miss Zeigler, Lieut. Howell, Captain and Mrs. Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. Gamble, the Misses Gamble, Captain and Mrs. Putnam, Lieut. and Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Johnstone, Lieut. O'Connor, Lieut. and Mrs. Watkins, Captain and Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Beedie, Colonel Wilder, Colonel Wheeler, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Foster, Major Benson, Major and Mrs. Holbrook, Chaplain Houlahan, Major and Mrs. Walcutt, Major Jenkins, Major and Mrs. McClure, Mrs. Koch, Captain and Mrs. Koester, Captain and Mrs. Orion, Captain and Mrs. Seales, Mrs. S. D. Seales, Miss Seales, Captain and Mrs. Haight, Captain Forsythe, Captain and Mrs. Sturgeis, Captain and Mrs. Rodney, Miss Munda, Captain and Mrs. Forrester, Lieut. and Mrs. Winnia, Lieut. and Mrs. Barton, Lieut. and Mrs. Gregory, Lieut. Ely, Lieut. Warren, Lieut. and Mrs. Cunningham, Miss Barnum, Lieut. and Mrs. Parker, Lieut. Hume, Lieut. Winter, Lieut. and Mrs. Dockery, Miss Dockery, Lieut. Sheridan, Lieut. and Mrs. Morrison, Lieut. D. R. Rodney, Lieut. Quackemeyer, Lieut. Baird, Lieut. and Mrs. Hanson, Lieut. and Mrs. Christy, Lieut. Doak, Lieut. Groninger, Lieut. Milliken, Miss

Cooper, Ethelwynne Castle, Beatrice Castle, Marjory Gilman, Cordelia Gilman, Frances Dillingham, Achilles, Marion Scott, Dorothy Wood, Louise Girard, May Damon, Wilhelmina Tenney, Violet McKee, Helen North, Jessie Kennedy, Florence Hoffman, Edith Williams, Helen Hough, Lorette Hough, Vera Damon, Agnes Walker, the Misses Johnson, the Misses Koepke, Messrs. C. Osborne, Spalding, Bobbie Thompson, Ralph Hosmer, E. Faxon Bishop, George Fuller, Robt. Catton, Walter Kendall, E. H. Dondoro, R. Walker, Ed. Hedeman, Lansing, Geo. Shaeffer, Chas. S. Dole, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Cooke, Mrs. Rittenburg, Misses Cooke, Julia McStocker, Lydia McStocker, Braverman, Runyon, Goodale, Tucker, the Misses Gilbert, Messrs. Percy Cleg-horn, Herbert, Rietow, Hawae, Dr. Hedeman, Dr. Clarke, Mr. A. H. Ford, Mr. Buttolph, Mr. E. F. Mellemphy, Mr. Bigelow.

Engagement Luncheon.

One of the most beautiful luncheons of the season was given yesterday afternoon at the residence of Judge Henry Cooper, when the announcement of the engagement of Miss Isabel to Lieutenant James Pine was announced. The announcement was made at a luncheon where covers were arranged for twelve. The large dining room where the repast was served was festooned with pepper branches and hundreds of pink and white hearts. Over the center of the table was a canopy effect of smilax, interspersed with hearts. The center piece was a fancy basket filled with pink and white carnations veiled with pink tulle. The place cards were very cunning and original, the card depicted saucy Cupids blowing tiny trumpets. The engagement was announced in a novel manner, a large hand-painted heart rested on a stand on the table with tiny heart-shaped on either side of the card. Each space being numbered miniature hearts, some in white and some in pink, were passed during the courses of the luncheon. Each tiny heart was numbered, the guests were requested to draw one and place it on the corresponding number on the large heart. It is needless to state that much curiosity and excitement were displayed, at the conclusion of the luncheon the large heart was passed, on one side was spelled "Isabel" and on the other "James" and of course the secret was divulged and the happy young girl was showered with good wishes. The prospective bride is very young and has yet not made her debut—she is very handsome with dark hair and eyes and an exquisite coloring. The wedding will occur in October, the only drawback is that this fair young daughter of Hawaii is marrying a man belonging to the service and Honolulu is losing one of its prettiest and attractive society buds. Lieutenant James Pine is stationed on the U. S. R. C. Thetis, belong to the Revenue Cutter service. He is an ideal officer, and has made hosts of friends during his station in Honolulu. Among those who participated in the delightful affair Friday were Mrs. Henry Cooper, Mrs. Cochran, Miss Alice Cooper, Miss Josephine Shedy, Miss Irene Cooper, Miss Frances Cochran, Mrs. Wilcox, Miss Hepburn, Miss Bertha Kopke, Miss Helen North, Miss Helen Brown and the guest of honor.

Lieutenant Burrell's Dinner.

A delightful and enjoyable dinner party was given at the Moana hotel Thursday evening in compliment to Admiral and Mrs. Walter Cowles, and Miss Edith Cowles. Lieutenant Burrell of the U. S. Navy was the host. After dinner the party attended the ball that was given at the Outrigger Club by the officers of Fort Ruger. Those who enjoyed Lieutenant Burrell's hospitality were Admiral and Mrs. Cowles, Lieutenant and Mrs. Roy Francis Smith, Miss Kutenman, Miss Alice Cooper, Miss Edith Cowles, Lieutenant Gayler, U. S. N., and Lieutenant Leo Sahn.

Artistic in each detail was the dinner at which Captain and Mrs. Clifton Carter presided at their home on College street, on Saturday evening. The eight covers were designated by handpainted foreign place cards. The color scheme was pink and green. Pale pink asters combined with lace maidenhair fern and pink tulle, produced a decorative decoration. Those present were General and Mrs. Macomb, Captain and Mrs. Clifton Carter, Major and Mrs. Edward J. Timberlake and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ivers.

Military Ball.

Pacific Club Ball.
Wedding Reception.
Mrs. Frosser's Luncheon.
Major and Mrs. Neville's Dinner.
Mrs. Putnam's Card Party.
Mrs. Anderson's Luncheon.
Captain and Mrs. Carter's Dinner.
Mrs. Gilman's Bridge Party.
Captain and Mrs. Sturgis' Dinner.
General and Mrs. Macomb Entertain.
Mrs. Charles Chillingworth's Luncheon.
Mrs. James Hough's Dinner.
Lieutenant Burrell's Dinner.
Mrs. Wilcox's Card Party.
Lieut. Andrew's Dinner.
House Party on Tantalus.
Miss Stephen's Dinner.
Governor and Mrs. Carter's Dinner.
Mr. and Mrs. Peck's Dinner.
Mrs. Howard Hitchcock's Tea.
Mrs. R. A. Jordan's 4 O'clock Tea.
Mrs. Sherman's Pol. Luncheon.
Mr. and Mrs. Howard's Dinner.
Wednesday Bridge Club.
Mrs. Haneberg's Luncheon.
Doctor and Mrs. Judd's Dinner.
Lelieha Bridge Club.
Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder's Dinner.
United Service Bridge Club.
Mrs. Lindsay's Luncheon.
Mr. and Mrs. Atherton's Dinner.
Mrs. E. W. Jordan's Pol. Luncheon.
Mrs. Westrick's Tea.
Engagement Luncheon.
Mrs. Fred Waterhouse's Luncheon.
Mr. and Mrs. Ivers' Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Tenney Peck's Dinner.

Enjoyable was the mid-day dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Tenney Peck, when they entertained Sunday in honor of Judge and Mrs. Selden Kingsbury, at their residence on Wilder avenue. Pink carnations and maidenhair fern made the table very attractive. Those present beside the host and hostess were Judge and Mrs. Selden Kingsbury, Mrs. A. Newton Locke and the Reverend and Mrs. Kroll.

Miss Katherine Stephens' Dinner.

Miss Louise Girard was the motif for an enjoyable dinner that was given Thursday evening at the home of Captain and Mrs. Marix. Covers were laid for eight, the color scheme was in two tones of yellow. After dinner the party motored to the military ball at Waikiki. Those present were: Captain and Mr. Arthur Marix, Miss Girard, Miss Bonkom of New York, Miss Katherine Stephens, Lieutenant Parsons, Lieutenant Phil Sheridan and Lieutenant Blair.

They Set Off The Daintiest Gowns

Ill-fitting or clumsy looking shoes can spoil the effect of the handsomest gown ever designed. A pair of dainty, charming Women's Regals will insure you against such a catastrophe. They are correctly built on the most exclusive custom models, and afford the same perfect fit and comfort as do the most expensive made-to-measure shoes.

REGAL SHOE STORE,
King and Bethel Sts